

PLAYLAB, INC.

is looking for a summer intern

US

PLAYLAB, INC. is a New York based creative practice founded in 2009. With no particular focus, we explore themes using art, architecture, and graphic design to initiate and work with others on ideas. Past projects include: giant worm tents for the New Museum of Contemporary Art and Storefront For Art & Architecture, a rebrand of America for SFMOMA, and a compilation of all the times Joaquin Phoenix has walked in his films, titled Walking Phoenix. In 2011, the studio co-founded the quarterly publication CLOG, and in 2010, co-founded + POOL with Family New York, an initiative to build the world's first water-filtering floating pool in New York.

PLAYLAB, INC. is: Archie Lee Coates IV, Jeff Franklin, Ryan J. Simons, Luiza Dale, and Anya Shcherbakova.

YOU

The summer intern will work closely with the studio, assisting with multiple projects PLAYLAB, INC. is currently working on or is preparing to work on in the near future. Tasks will include researching cultural organizations, collecting precedents, assisting in studio organization, and documenting past and ongoing work. You will also be creating concepts, sketches, layouts and final designs under the direction of the studio, assisting with on site productions and installations and any other needs of the studio as they come up.
